BUILDING IS LIVELY

Trade Good in Building Lines—Home Makers Continue to Come—Real Estate Dealers Report Steady Inquiry and Good Outlook

E. K. Daniels is building on Tenth street opposite Damasco Court.

M. L. White, Garden Home tract, Raleigh street, six rooms; price $1500.

Mrs. E. J. Mason is building a five-room bungalow on Salem street to cost $1800.

The building inspector has issued permits for the month to date as follows:

Robt. Franklin is putting up a $1500 house at Sycamore and Remington streets.

Mr. Webber is building on Brand boulevard, north of the wash, a $2500 residence.

Contractor W. S. May is building for Mr. Muhleman at Tenth and Glendale avenue.

Emily Hardin, Belmont street between First and Second, five rooms, one story; price $1250.

Miss Dunn is building on Sixth street east of Adams, a $1500 residence; J. N. Witham, contractor.

A. T. Chandler is putting $500 worth of improvements on the residence of Mr. Myer, in West Glendale.

Mr. Neeson, the druggist, is having erected on Seventh street west of the boulevard, a $2000 residence.

C. B. Franklin, contractor, is building for Mr. Thompson on Fairview avenue, east of Casa Verdugo, a $2000 bungalow.

Mr. Ball, who is connected with the Glendale and Eagle Rock railroad, is building a small cottage in the Vineyard tract.

Building operations which during May fell off noticeably, have started up again in a manner which indicates that the home builder is at work again.

A. F. Wilson and C. B. Wilson, Louise street between Fourth and Fifth, five rooms, one story house, one a duplicate of the other. To cost about $1500 each.

Overton Realty company have sold a cottage on Howard street belonging to Mr. Rothweiler to Mr. McNary of Los Angeles, who occupies it with his family. There are now four houses in course of construction on Fairview street, north of the wash. That section and the southwest corner of Glendale are at present forging ahead in the race between the home builders; but there is a general feeling that the coming fall months and the winter will witness a lively building trade in the valley generally.

CALIFORNIA PROGRESSIVE IN FOREST PRESERVATION.

California took another step in its effort to promote the practice of forestry within the state when Governor Gillett signed the bill providing for the creation of county boards of forestry. This bill authorizes the county supervisors to appoint a board of forestry, whose secretary shall be a trained forester. Such forester shall have power to enforce the provisions of the act, and all lawful orders of the forestry board, and in addition is vested with the powers of a peace officer to make arrests for violation of the law.

The county board of forestry is granted exclusive power to decide upon the variety, character and kind of trees, hedges and shrubs that shall be planted upon county roads, highways, grounds and property, and to determine all questions respecting the pruning, cutting and removal of all trees, hedges and shrubs, and the extent and manner in which such work shall be done.

A violation of any of the provisions of the act shall be deemed a misdemeanor. A special fund was also created to be made up of any penalties incurred through a violation of the provisions of the act, and all moneys thus received shall be available to cover the expenses of the board.

This law was the direct result of the work accomplished by Riverside county, which has for some time maintained a paid forester to look after the setting out and caring for trees within the county. The results obtained in that county were so satisfactory that it was thought desirable to extend the scope of the work to other localities.

Board of Trade Meeting

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade will be held at the City Hall Tuesday evening, June 15th. Every member is urged to be present.

F. H. VESPER, President.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

A Meeting of Universal Interest.

The meeting of Tuesday marked a fitting close of the strenuous part of the club year, the next and last meeting being the club picnic, the president, Mrs. Pack, hostess.

Miss Ruth Byram, who so successfully brought Mrs. W. D. Byram to us on March 9th, again responded to the club's request to hear Mrs. Byram, and arranged an afternoon of much enjoyment and profit. Many beautiful flowers softened and brightened the room, delighting the eye and forming a handsome setting for the large audience composed of representative women from the valley, many from Tropico and Eagle Rock being present.

Mrs. L. C. Rice read a letter from Del Monte, giving a report in detail of the Eighth Annual Convention of Women's clubs. Mrs. Morris read a statement of the proceedings at Pomona on "Fellowship Day," after which Miss Byram took charge of the program, and presented to the club Mrs. W. D. Byram, probation officer of Judge Wilbur's juvenile court.

Mrs. Byram pleased the club even more than in her talk during the winter, having many new and absorbing things to tell us concerning her work. She quoted from the new laws which were lately passed relative to the juvenile court work, the articles which embraced many good changes and many new things for the good of the lads and lassies who come under their control.

The age limit is 18 years under the new laws instead of 16, and under one provision any boy under 21 years of age, if accused of a felony charge, can if he so desires be tried in the juvenile court and then can be tried out in the state school instead of being sent to the penitentiary. So it practically gives the juvenile court the right to look after the boys until they become of age.

The court under the new ruling is given more latitude in the case of dependents. Those who beg, frequent saloons or poolrooms; incorrigibility, truants and habitual users of drugs or cigarettes. The juvenile court can keep a child in school after the age of 14 if the parents so wish. The case of the parents is also looked after. People who wilfully neglect their children or send them to state institutions or "homes" without an order from the court of law, or who make their children beg or steal are subject to a fine of $1000, or imprisonment of not more than one year, or both.

Mrs. Byram explained that it was not the policy of the juvenile court to break up families but rather to build up the home. The nation depended upon the individual and families are the builders of the boys and girls. The average child would rather stay at home with the parents, and besides the handling of the children in masses at the state institutions and homes makes helpless and dependent children mentally so that when sent out upon their own resources they fall through lack of knowledge and will power. Mrs. Byram urges the parents and teachers to learn to recognize symptoms: the average child likes to please and nearly always when a child is cross and mean and does naughty things, there is something physically wrong, the trouble being removed, the child will develop normally and sanely. She blessed the public playground for children and the present system of athletics in the schools. She advises keeping children busy and at work out of school hours; advocates wholesome play between boys and girls but frowns upon the least degree of intimacy; she thinks parties, late hours, dime novels and sensational theaters are bad for growing children.

Mrs. Byram urged upon the parents the necessity of always knowing where their children are every minute; to give them religious training, and above all to keep the confidence of their children from babyhood, for once lost it is never regained. That is the secret of the success of the juvenile court. They gain the confidence of the children that are brought to them, and then try to instill into their minds the system of honesty. For all the 150 cases that report every day there are no scoldings. The stress is taken off the bad things and put upon the good part. They never scold a boy when he is down but reach down and pick him up. The speaker quoted numerous incidents that had come under her personal notice to emphasize and illustrate her remarks, and closed with a half whimsical but wholly earnest plea "Come, be a probation officer for a while, go with me on my rounds and see who is your neighbor."

An informal reception was held at the close of the meeting where the ladies were privileged to meet Mrs. Byram.

Mrs. Edgar Smith and Mrs. Paul Tuttle assisted Miss Ruth Byram, in preparing the entertainment and receiving the guests at the door. Mrs. John Parker played Paderewski's "Minuet a l'Antique."

THE CLOSING DAY.

A picnic at Canyon Crest has been chosen as a fitting function to celebrate President's Day at the close of the most successful year in the life of the Tuesday Afternoon club. During the year the club has been incorporated and has been admitted to membership in the general federation of woman's clubs. Many interesting meetings have marked the passing months. The civic committee has added to the treasury a sufficient amount from Captain Wells's lecture and other sources to erect a public drinking fountain. The forestry and parks committee has aimed to arouse public interest along these lines.

The philanthropic committee has done a large amount of beautiful humanitarian work, especially for the Day Nursery of Los Angeles. Thus every committee, press reporter, parliamentary critic and each member of the club has held herself in readiness to perform allotted duties, which has added to the success of the general work. The officers and board of directors have found much to be done as the club has rapidly grown into a dignified, business-like body of city proportions.

To the just and wise and executive president is the success of the year largely due; and upon this closing day is the fitting occasion for each member to express her appreciation of the work of the retiring officers and welcome the new, and enjoy a jolly social afternoon on Tuesday, June 22, in the oakwood canyon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Wells's, where the house and grounds will be open to guests. The Glendale and Eagle Rock car passes the place.

To simplify arrangements each member or members, as they may like to combine, will bring a picnic lunch together with cups and spoons for the number of members in the party. Husbands and children and friends, which each member may wish to invite and provide for, are cordially invited to come in picnic garb, prepared to enjoy the happiest day of the year.

Coffee, toasts, "Sycamore canyon water and a sparkling flow of intellectuality will be provided.

COMMITTEE.

BULLETIN PUBLISHED BY THE CALIFORNIA PROMOTION COMMITTEE.

Conditions in California pertaining to material progress are excellent. The crop outlook continues to improve and all fruits will reach a production above the average. Reports received by the California Promotion committee from every fruit district of the state predict extra heavy crops.

Lack of late rains affects hay and grain crops in some localities. Reports from all parts of the state indicate a banner crop of grapes. Early cherries are in abundance, and especially large and profitable crops are reported, especially in the shipping varieties.

Several important projects relating to the colonization of California lands were inaugurated during the month, and reports from the committee's Eastern bureau and other agencies throughout the country and Europe indicate a general movement of settlers toward the state during the coming summer and fall.

Much activity is being displayed by local organizations over the state and wide work of development is resulting therefrom.

Information given on all parts of California. Address: The California Promotion Committee, San Francisco.

FOURTH OF JULY.

A Meeting to Arrange Details.

Will be held Tuesday evening next at the city hall at 8 o'clock. Everybody interested in a proper observance of the day is invited to be present. EDGAR LEAVITT, Chairman.

K. of P. Dance

The Knights of Pythias will give a Negligee Dance at their hall, 302 1/2 Brand Boulevard, Saturday evening, June 19th, at 8:15 o'clock. Admission 50c; extra lady 25c. Refreshments.

You can't make a mistake if you buy your shoes at Carney's sacrifice sale of Glendale shoe stock.

THE CHURCHES

Announcements of Services, etc.

The dedicatory service at the Christ Church last Sabbath was very successful. Over $2000 were raised toward the church indebtedness. Tomorrow (Sunday) preaching both morning and evening by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Utter.

The sermon at the Presbyterian church will be appropriate to the season of school closing at the morning service. The evening service will be omitted on account of the sermon before the grammar school graduates at the M. E. church.

During the absence of the pastor the pulpit of this church will be regularly filled every Sabbath.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The pastor will preach at the morning service, using as his subject "Blessed to Become a Blessing." There will be no evening service on account of union service at the Methodist church.

The ladies' missionary society held its quarterly tea at the home of Mrs. W. R. Middleworth on Orange street. A program on the interesting subject of medical missions given, after which dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Middleworth and Mrs. Hoffman were the entertaining ladies, and the guests were unanimous in their praise of their ability.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH, EPISCOPAL.

First Sunday after Trinity, services as follows: Sunday school at 10 a. m. sharp, in the Parish hall. Morning service, with holy baptism at 11 o'clock and a short address by the rector, Rev. Mr. Runkle. The people are urged to be in their places and parents to bring their children to these services. A general invitation is also extended to visitors and strangers to join with us in observing the Lord's Day. Parishioners are reminded that the special offering is for diocesan missions, being the first quarterly offering for the convention year.

The Aeolian club of the First Baptist church spent Monday, May 31st, in a most delightful manner at Seven Oaks. The half hour most enjoyed by all was that immediately following luncheon, when the time was given up to after dinner speeches. Mr. Almo R. Taylor acted as toast master while those responding were Miss Pearl Perkins, Mr. Baughman, Mr. Huff, Mr. Moody, Mr. Martin and Mr. Taylor. The afternoon was given up to the playing of games and including the hills from which there is such a beautiful view of the San Fernando valley. Toward evening supper was served and about 8:30 the crowd, tired, but still pleased with their outing, started for home. Until further notice the members of the Choral club of the Baptist church are requested to meet at the church on Wednesday, instead of at the regular meeting place.

METHODIST CHURCH.

J. F. Humphrey, Pastor.

Morning sermon, "Christ and the Child," evening, "The True Standard of Greatness," a baccalaureate sermon to the forty-one graduates of the Glendale grammar schools. The P. E. D. octet will sing in this service.

During the Sunday school hour will be held children's day services.

Epworth league devotion meeting, "Accepting and Rejecting the Truth." M. Z. Remsburg, leader.

Official board meeting Monday night. The Women's Home Missionary Society will meet Tuesday, 2 p. m., with Mrs. F. M. Beers, 309 South Belmont.

Monthly business meeting of the Epworth league Tuesday evening.

Nine were baptized last Sunday morning.

Dr. M. S. Hughes will deliver the commencement address of the University of Southern California, Temple Auditorium, Thursday, 10 a. m.

The league service has been changed to 6:45, and the church service 7:45.

TARDY, BUT APPRECIATIVE.

Owing to the fact that the affair occurred just after we went to press, the News failed to give deserved mention to the very enjoyable party given to the "Sweet Sixteeners" by two of their members, Misses Emma and Mildred Pulliam, at Odd Fellows Hall, Friday evening, two weeks ago. The affair was one of the liveliest and happiest occasions that the young folks ever took part in; music, dancing, refreshments—in fact, everything that served to impress the evening upon the memories of the participants—was programmed and carried out in the most thorough and enjoyable manner.

COUNTRY CLUB NOTES.

Bachelors Entertain.

Monday was a gala night at the Country Club when the bachelors entertained for members and the ladies of the "Maid and Matrons" association. After a very jolly reception hour prizes were played for and first awards fell to Mrs. Spinks, a five-pound box of best bonbons, and to Mr. C. O. Pulliam, a solid silver cigar case. Refreshments served were greatly enjoyed.

On Saturday night, June 26th, a brilliant affair will be a shirtwaist dance at the Country Club rooms.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Herbert Bartlett of Brand boulevard will act as hostess for the Maids and Matrons. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sowl of North Glendale will provide a Victrola concert for the enjoyment of their guests.

P. E. O. HOUSE WARMING.

Despite the warm weather of last week, P. E. O.'s and B. I. L.'s enthusiastically wended their way, Friday night, to the new bungalow on Fifth street to have supper with Mr. and Mrs. William Goss. Small tables were placed about the living room and dining room, each table resplendent with tiny Dorothy Perkins roses, while marguerites, the P. E. O. flower, modestly glanced down from their places above the tables and bespoke approval of the pretty home. After the merry supper tables disappeared in a mysterious manner and games were enjoyed, accompanied by the music of Mr. Dana Goss's violin.

Covers were laid for thirty-two.

SURPRISE AND REGRETS.

It is with great regret the members of the Maids and Matrons society lose from their membership roll the name of Mrs. J. N. Metcalf of North Burchett street, as on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf move to Los Angeles to establish a home there. In recognition of the fact that Mrs. Metcalf is a general favorite among them, twenty-six of the Maids and Matrons met on Thursday night at her home to spend with Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf a delightful evening.

Sure it is that in the future, the names Glendale, Country Club, Maids and Matrons, will call up most pleasant memories in the minds of both Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf.

A CURIOSITY—WHAT A GLENDALE HEN DID.

A hen belonging to Mrs. F. I. Marsh of the Vert Mont hotel, has made a record that deserves to be preserved among the archives of the Hen Societies of the World. After prolonged and laborious effort which almost ended her useful career, she produced an egg which was more than egg— which was in fact a pair. It was the size of a goose egg and when broken open was found to contain another perfect ordinary sized egg, shell and all. The hen is of the Rhode Island Red breed. Had she been a California Clay Back crossed with a Texas Blue Nose, there's no knowing what would have happened.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

The Glendale Shoe Store, has changed hands. Mr. Pierce, who recently bought out Mr. Blackburn's interest in the establishment, having sold out to Mr. David Carney, who recently came to Los Angeles from Iowa, where he has been engaged in the shoe business for eighteen years. Mr. Carney proposes to make Glendale his home and will enlarge the store and put in a large and varied stock of goods so as to accommodate all patrons.

W. C. T. U.

Regular meeting will be held on Friday, June 18th, at the home of Mrs. Musser, 202 East Sixth street, at 2:30 p. m. A fine program has been prepared by Mrs. Musser, who is superintendent of the mothers' department and it will be a mothers' meeting. All who can possibly attend are requested to be present. It is particularly requested that young mothers should attend. All strangers are cordially invited to be present. It will be an open air meeting.

Demands previously referred were reported back approved and warrants ordered drawn.

Special committee on lights reported that a street light had been erected at Glendale avenue and Fourth street without expense to the city.

Report of city recorder for May was received and filed.

It was ordered that two copies of "The General Street Laws of California," by Sidney Dell, be purchased by the city.

Bill for street improvement on Howard street was received and referred to the street superintendent.

The city marshal reported that the engine of the Glendale planing mill had been muffed. The following communication from Postmaster Flint of Los Angeles was read and placed on the minutes: "Kindly note that arrangements have been made with the lessor of the premises occupied by the postoffice in your city so that we can have the lobby of this branch open until 8 p. m., which I trust will meet with the convenience of your citizens."

Application for permit to do street work by private contract on a portion of Doran street, from Milwaukee Building company and accompanied by check for required fees. Permit was granted on condition that the sidewalk be constructed five feet in width.

The city attorney was authorized to purchase for the city a copy of the general laws from the edition soon to be published.

FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE MEETING.

The committee met at the city hall last Tuesday evening. Owing to the small attendance not much was done. Edgar Leavitt, Esq., was elected chairman of the committee and J. C. Sherer, secretary. A committee was appointed to see the officials of the Salt Lake and ascertain what arrangements could be made for train service connecting with the park. The meeting adjourned to meet at the same time and place next Tuesday evening.

Although garden stuff and fruits, except berries, are rather scarce as yet in the gardens and orchards about Glendale, we find our local stores well supplied with these products. Peaches and apricots are here from the Imperial valley and Arizona. Cherries come from the Sacramento and Santa Clara valleys, while strawberries, loganberries, raspberries and blackberries are from the home gardens. Asparagus comes from gardens near Los Angeles, while the North Glendale hot house is furnishing fine cucumbers.

The senior class that graduated from the Glendale Sanitarium June 1st, were invited guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hyatt, West Fourth street, Monday afternoon. Refreshments were served on the lawn. All voted it a good time. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Butcher, Mrs. Drummond, Mr. Silsbee, Misses Johnson, Jones, Conway, Youngquist, Sanborn, Rose and Dixon. Others present besides the class were Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hyatt and their little son Ellis, who were guests at the Hyatt home. These have gone to Catalina for a week's stay, after which they will return to Glendale for another visit.

"BETWEEN THE ACTS."

The Junior boys covered themselves with glory Friday evening of last week in presenting "Between the Acts" at the Filger Opera house. The enjoyable little comedy was presented in a manner that gave great pleasure to the good audience assembled to hear and see the juniors. The play was not only good but so was the cornet solo and the song by the fearfully and wonderfully garbed quartet.

GLENDAL, CAL., JUNE 12, 1909

As this paper goes to press Friday afternoon, functions occurring Friday and Saturday evenings are liable to be overlooked in the next issue on account of their being somewhat stale. Our friends who wish mention made of occurrences on these evenings are requested to call the attention of our reporters to them particularly, so that they may receive due attention.

The talk of Mrs. W. D. Byram at the meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon club Tuesday, a synopsis of which appears in our local columns, was upon a topic of vital interest and it is to be hoped will be followed by good results. Mrs. Byram speaks as one having knowledge and not as a mere theorist; differing in this from many of our public men and women who sincerely believe that they are working for reform when as a matter of fact they are merely killing time in a manner pleasing to themselves, and—just possibly—to their hearers. We note with pleasure also that the W. C. T. U. and other organizations are doing good work in an effort to instill into the minds of mothers some knowledge of the things which are of vital necessity to all parents who care to give a good account of their stewardship in regard to the heavy responsibility which devolves upon them when they are made the natural guardians of future citizens.

COUNTY BUYS ANOTHER QUARRY

The county of Los Angeles has bought for $23,391 a stone quarry at Pacoima (five miles south of San Fernando) from which stone will be taken for use on the highway system. And no sooner have the supervisors completed the purchase than there arise disquieting rumors as to the quality of the rock which constitutes the quarries. It is asserted that the property has been on the market for years and that the rock has been tested on several occasions and rejected. The Southern Pacific Railroad company, although knowing all about the quarries, preferred to take stone for its own use from Declez quarries near Colton and from Chatsworth. And now that they have paid for the property the supervisors are going to commence at once to bore through the hill and see just what kind of an elephant they have on their hands.

H. H. Rogers, who was made famous by Thomas Lawson's story of him in "Frenzied Finance," more than by the real and wonderful things that he did, has passed from earth leaving his fifty millions behind him. His friends speak of him as having been generous, kindly—everything indeed that doth become a man, while the rest of the world regards him as a creature of quite different mold. However deserving Mr. Rogers and the other Standard Oil magnates may be of censure for their methods of business, it cannot be denied that they have done much for the development of the country. He recently completed the Virginia railway, connecting the mountains of West Virginia with the sea, 442 miles distant. This achievement, however, is insignificant in comparison with the wonderful work done by Mr. Henry Flagler, another Standard Oil man, in building the railroad over the Florida Keys to the outermost key, only ninety miles from Havana. In the case of Mr. H. H. Rogers, it is to be hoped that the good was not all interred with his bones.

STREET WORK SUSPENDED.

The late legislature doubtless did some good work, but seems also to have mixed some other matters up in a manner the outcome of which cannot yet be determined. Glendale is interested in its acts at the present time owing to the fact that street work as far as general improvements to streets is concerned, is practically at a standstill waiting to see how the supreme court will construe the changes made by the law-making body in the street improvement laws. It seems that as the matter stands, sidewalks are excepted from the application of the law for street improvement under the bond act. While the improvement of the main street can still be done under the ten-year bond system, the sidewalks aligning the same street must be paid for in cash. It is the hope of City Attorney Baker, and presumably of others, that the supreme court before which the question is to come for decision, will put the matter back into its original condition.

THE NINETEEN HUNDRED AND NOW CLUB.

Edward Everett Hale tells about the club which somebody has organized with the above title. He says, "The club proposes to keep its eyes open all the time and to ask three questions all the time. One, what is needed in this community now? Two, How can this thing be soonest done? Three, How can you and I do it?"

The title and purpose of this club appeals to us. It ought to appeal to the individual everywhere and to the community as a whole. And in no place should such an appeal apply with greater force than in a community like our own where the future looms up before us with infinite possibilities and commensurate responsibilities.

There are no doubt a variety of opinions as to what Glendale most needs just now. A number of answers might be given to the question and no doubt any one of them might receive a vigorous support from numerous people. If it was possible for us all to agree on this proposition, it would be easy enough to reply to the second question, "How can it soonest be done?"

Having answered both of these questions with reasonable unanimity, the more personal one, "How can you and I do it," would almost answer itself. The NEWS is ready to start a Nineteen Hundred and Now club, and invites its readers to answer in our next issue the first question, "What is needed in the community now?" Be concise in the expression of your ideas, but express them!

"A SAILOR'S LOG."

The sub-title is "Recollections of Forty Years of Naval Life," and it is the story told by Robley D. Evans, rear admiral. We have not had the pleasure for a long time of reading so interesting and instructive a book. Admiral Evans has lived a life of action and the forty years covered by this volume were spent by him in the service of the United States as a sailor, during which time he visited every continent and nearly all the principal harbors on the globe. Like a good many other men who have made a conspicuous mark in the world, he knows human nature thoroughly and has no use for simple theories. Some of his criticisms of people and conditions are worthy of note. His opinion of the relative honesty of the Chinese and Japanese is contrary to that most generally entertained and is therefore quotable. It was written in 1867.

"The contrast between the Japanese and the Chinese was at that time very striking, and vastly in favor of the former people. Since then it has become more marked. The leading characteristic of the Japanese was honesty. It was in striking contrast with the trickeries, not to say dishonesty of the Chinese as a race. During my whole stay in Japan I was constantly tramping about the country, shooting or wandering over strange cities, picking up curios here and there. In all my experience I never had anything stolen from me, though at times I intrusted articles of all sorts to the first small boy I met on the street, to be delivered to my boat or the hotel, often miles away. Every article was promptly and carefully delivered. If such an experiment had been tried in China everything would have been stolen."

He describes the beheading of Japanese criminals; comments upon it as much more business-like and humane than our American method of conducting executions, and bears testimony to the fact that the Japanese, like the Chinese, have no fear of death. One of the most interesting chapters is that in which he tells of his experience in getting recruits for the navy. His opinion of "over-education," is worth reproducing.

"After one trip to Boston, where I enlisted several hundred boys, I was satisfied that education, or rather over-education, was doing great harm in New England. Book schools were not doing what industrial schools would have accomplished. Because a tailor or a shoemaker had been president, every tailor's and shoemaker's son was being educated to fill that high office and the result was bad, in many cases very bad. Overtraining of any kind is not good and I found mental overtraining the worst of all. My experience, and I had plenty of it, was the same over and over again. Each morning when I went to my office at the navy yard gate, I found a long line of finely dressed boys with very shabby dressed parents. In every case the boy had spent his life at school, winding up in many instances in the high school, and after that finding nothing to do. The parents were striving hard and stinting themselves that the boys might appear well and dress like gentlemen while the lads were growing more and more ashamed of their surroundings and their honest fathers and mothers, who had been and are today the bone and sinew of this great republic. To save them from poolrooms and worse they begged me to enlist them as apprentices in the navy and begin anew their education. I almost had it in my heart to wish that every high school in Boston would burn to the ground and that every boy and every girl should be taught to work with their hands and make a living, as their honest parents had done before them."

Presumably the statute of limitations has become effective against this treasonable utterance, or possibly Boston has reformed since the words were written.

"A Sailor's Log" is heartily recommended to all readers who do not object to absorbing knowledge while at the same time finding rare enjoyment within the covers of a book.

THE LIGHT QUESTION

Trustee Cole's Views on the Subject
Other Correspondence—Experience of a Wisconsin Town.

To the Public:

There is a great deal of interest in the voting of bonds for electric lights; now as Trustees Watson, Blackburn and Anderson published a long statement, I submit another view, which is against the voting of bonds for such a purpose. This committee says that "a steam plant having 450 subscribers would be entirely self supporting, and would have absolutely no effect upon the tax rate." The board has fixed a minimum rate of $1.00 per month for the use of electric light, and estimates that 450 consumers would use it, and on its own estimate the city would have an income from light of $540.00. This estimate is too high, and I do not believe that over 300 consumers could be secured for some time, making the real income about $360.00 per month. It figures out this way:

Sinking fund, per month.....	$100
Interest, per month.....	250
Depreciation, per month.....	100
Foreman on line, per month.....	100
1 assistant, per month.....	75

Leaving a deficiency of almost $20,000 per year to be paid by the taxpayers. Again there are a great many people in Glendale who do not think they can afford electric light at any price, as it involves the extra expense of wiring and putting in fixtures which cost from $50.00 to $100.00 per house. Now I am very much interested in all that pertains to the best interests of Glendale, and will be glad to demonstrate to any voter that the figures presented by the committee are much too low, and that the electric light problem is a poor investment for a small city.

Respectfully,

JOHN A. COLE.

To the Glendale News:

An argument in favor of municipal ownership of our lighting system which I have not seen put forward but which is worthy of attention is connected with the Owens river aqueduct. I have it on the authority of one of the engineers of that project that there was inserted in the bill as it passed congress, at the instance of President Roosevelt, the proviso that the city of Los Angeles was not to sell to any corporation any portion of the water or of the power generated by the waters of this aqueduct. If, therefore, the citizens of Glendale should in the future desire to avail themselves of the power of the Owens river aqueduct for light or factory power it must be through municipal ownership and cannot be through a company owned by private parties.

Yours for municipal light and power,
S. J. LAWRENCE WARD.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP AT SHAWANO, WIS.

We have been handed a copy of the Shawano County Advocate, published at Shawago, Wis., which has an interesting article upon the subject of the water and lighting plant owned by that city. A bond issue of $15,000 was voted in April, 1900, and the plant was completed the same year. A powerhouse of substantial structure and neat in appearance was erected. The electric light power is furnished by three dynamos, one for arc lighting, of forty 2000 candle power lamps capacity, and two for incandescent lighting, one for 750 16 candle power capacity. The dynamo are driven by automatic engines of 100 horsepower. There are two circuits, one for city lighting and one for commercial and residence lighting. Twenty-five enclosed arc lamps of the latest type are suspended at street crossings. The plant cost in round numbers $16,000. The circuit now contains over 2000 lights and the income is about $3000 a month. The city has grown rapidly and the people seem to be perfectly satisfied with their experiment in municipal ownership as far as electric light and water are concerned. Of course the combination of the water and lighting business is a great advantage, as the cost of running the two is but little more than the expense of one.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT.

More About Mars.

As the date of the nearest approach of our ruddy neighbor to the earth draws near, the plans which are being arranged for some sort of communication with any possible inhabitants of the ancient planet begin to take definite shape. And one of the most interesting designs in that direction is that of Professor Todd of Amhurst College, and in disclosing the details of his experiments the professor incidentally exhibits a spirit of intrepid daring reminding us of the exploits of the early explorers over the unknown ocean in search of new continents, only in this case the danger involved is ten times greater.

Professor Todd says that next September he intends to go up in a balloon, through the dense atmosphere and lay a wire connection which will bring any possible ether flashes from Mars within human reach.

In arranging for this ascent Professor Todd will make use of every device known for the safety and success of such an enterprise.

"The balloon in which we shall ascend," he says, "will be the largest attainable, for we wish to reach a height of ten miles, if possible." The highest recorded ascension up to the present time is that of Messrs. Coxwell and Glaisher, who on Sept. 5th, 1862, attained an elevation of 37,000 feet, or slightly over seven miles in England. If Professor Todd reaches ten miles he will succeed in smashing a famous record which has held for forty-seven years.

Continuing the explanation of his plan for getting messages from Mars, the professor says: "At the top of the bag of the balloon will be constructed the wireless antennae which will be connected with the ground wires, and which may open up to the world a new source of information from our celestial neighbors.

Wireless communication is making great progress, and one of its latest triumphs is the successful operation of 4000 electric lights at an exhibition at Omaha, from a distance of five miles, the power being sent "wireless." There seems, indeed, no logical limit to the development of this amazing possibility, and if so careful and practical a man as Professor Todd hopes to get wave communication from Mars, we can only treat his propositions with the respect due to his undoubted ability and judgment. The same may be said of Prof. W. H. Pickering's scheme for flashing signals to Mars by means of mirrors. Our worthy editor has stigmatized this scheme in the last issue of the NEWS as "too fanciful for a practical age," and quotes a writer in the Scientific American and another in the New York Sun, who point out several weak spots in Professor Pickering's plans. As between the astronomer and his critics, however, it may be well to reserve our judgment, for one has a thorough knowledge of his subject and a lifetime of experience, and the others have—well, it is so easy to criticize and no special talent is required for it. In this connection it will be interesting to quote Professor Todd again: "You ask my opinion about the feasibility or promise of Pickering's ideas regarding Mars. For my friend, Prof. Pickering's observational studies of Mars for twenty years past, and his logical interpretation of them, and the work of others, I have only the profoundest respect. If he has put forward, seriously, the project of flash-light communication with Mars, he is the sort of man who would think out all the details of his scheme before embarking on the practical execution of this project."

The problem of Mars is being studied from many sides, and in many different directions, by some of the keenest astronomers of the day; but probably the greatest hope of a solution lies in the continued development of the telescope, and well-informed men believe that during the first half of this century a great advance will be made in the power of this instrument. This expectation is based on the fact that the world is beginning to take a lively interest in astronomy, which Mars himself has done more, perhaps, than any other planet, to awaken, because of the wide-spread speculation as to whether the planet is the abode of intelligent life. An intense public interest in astronomy is pretty certain to divert the minds of inventors toward the solution of some of the great questions which at present appear so unanswerable, and the problem of Mars will assuredly be one of the first to yield to the untiring and well-directed efforts of human ingenuity. Light is constantly reflected to us from Mars, bringing a faithful record of conditions on the planet, by our unaided eyesight we cannot read the record, but we hope yet to invent a method for its complete interpretation.

It is said that "the only thing that lies between a sandbank and a vastly increased knowledge of the stars, is the ability to manufacture a sufficiently large lens from the sand, and—if any one knew how to melt down a cartload of sand and cast it into a telescope glass, we should be able to see Mars as plainly as we now see the moon, and there would no longer be any doubt as to whether the planet is inhabited, because whatever the facts are they would be known. And such a telescope would make the moon look like a neighbor on the other side of our garden fence.

The subject of Mars is getting so popular that you can hardly take up a daily paper and not find something about him in it, and it may yet be advisable to start a "Mars column" in the NEWS on the same lines as is recommended for the subject of "prohibition" by one of our valued correspondents. Items of public interest could always be found for it, culled from our daily, weekly and monthly contemporaries all over the country.

Lunar Rainbows.

Lunar rainbows are seldom observed in the temperate zone. Very likely the physical phenomenon occurs frequently, but is invisible because of the faintness of the moon's light. In the tropics, where moonlight is more intense, says the Scientific American, lunar rainbows are more frequently observed. They are by no means rare at Reunion Island. At all places the phenomenon is most frequently seen at full moon when the moon's light is highest, but it has been seen in various phases of the moon. It was first observed by Aristotle. A lunar rainbow is produced at full moon by the spray of the great Victoria falls of the Yguazu in Brazil.

The Dot Over the "i."

The small letter "i" was formerly written without the dot. The dot was introduced in the fourteenth century to distinguish "i" from "e" in hasty and indistinct writing. The letter "i" was originally used where the letter "j" is now employed. The distinction between "i" and "j" was introduced by the Dutch printers at a comparatively recent date, and the "j" was dotted because the "i" from which it was derived, was written with a dot.

Blue Laws.

The name "blue laws" was given to the first collection of laws framed for the government of the New Haven colony. They were published in collective form in 1650, the volume being in a blue cover, which gave rise to the name that has clung to the laws ever since.

HELPED THE CABMAN.

But Not Because He Had Driven Him Years Before.

A very old man once called to see Lord Stratheona at his offices and explained as the reason of his visit that he was the cabman who drove him to his ship when he set sail for Canada long years before.

Lord Stratheona was interested in this reminiscence of his youth and listened to the ancient Jehu when he went on in a tearful voice to complain that death had just deprived him of one of two grandsons and that he himself had fallen on evil times.

Lord Stratheona soothed the old fellow's sorrows with a little money.

Again, after a time, the old man called on Lord Stratheona and this time told him that both his grandsons were down with typhoid fever and, as Lord Stratheona had helped him before, perhaps he would again. After some gossiping chat about Scotland Lord Stratheona again comforted the old man with a little money.

When he had gone an official who had overheard the conversation said: "I hope you did not give that man any money, Lord Stratheona. When he saw you before one of his two grandsons was dead. Now he says both are ill with typhoid fever."

"Thank you very much, Mr. Jones," said the high commissioner, with a twinkle in his eye, "but do you know when I left Scotland for Canada I had no cab to take me to the ship, but just wheeled down my things myself to the dock in a barrow."—London Tit-Bits.

A SECRET SIGNAL.

The Tailor's Comment While Measuring a Customer.

"Did you ever notice how the tailors while measuring a man for a suit of clothes mix in a few letters occasionally among the numbers?" asked a downtown lawyer recently of a friend. "Whenever I have been measured for a suit of clothes the tailor always said S. B. L. in a subdued voice as he took the measure for the length of my trousers. I often wondered what this secret signal meant and on one occasion made so bold as to ask, but was put aside in some casual way, which plainly showed me that the tailor did not wish me to know the meaning of the mysterious S. B. L."

"Well, I never knew what these letters meant until one day not long ago, when I stumbled across the solution quite by accident. I was waiting to have my measure taken while a strapping big fellow was on the rack. As he measured the length of the trousers leg the tailor said, '33, S. B. L.'"

"Yes," came back the reply from the big fellow, and — bowlegged too."

"All these years tailors have been accusing me of being 'slightly bowlegged,' and I had never caught on until I was practically told the answer in the accidental way."—Philadelphia Record.

Books.

God be thanked for books! They are the voices of the distant and the dead and make us heirs of the spiritual life of past ages. Books are true levelers. They give to all who will faithfully use them the society, the spiritual presence, of the best and greatest of our race. No matter how poor I am, no matter though the prosperous of my own time will not enter my obscure dwelling, if the sacred writers will enter and take up their abode under my roof—if Milton will cross my threshold to sing to me of paradise, and Shakespeare to open to me the world of imagination and the workings of the human heart, and Franklin to enrich me with his practical wisdom—I shall not pine for want of intellectual companionship, and I may become a cultivated man, though excluded from what is called the best society in the place where I live.—William Ellery Channing.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. Dr. Linscott for the International Newspaper Bible Study Club.

June, 13th, 1909.

(Copyright, 1909, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Heroes of Faith. Heb. xi:1-40.

Golden Text—Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Heb. xi:1.

Verses 1-4—In what respects are faith and hope similar?

If a desirable thing is possessed by faith, does that give as much, or similar satisfaction, as the possession of the thing itself?

What is the ground of our faith, that "the worlds were framed by the word of God"?

Why do we admire the men of faith of past years?

Verses 4-5—Abel had a truly religious nature; now was this nature the result of his faith, or was his faith the result of his nature?

Does this record mean that Enoch's translation was directly caused by a specific act of faith, or that his general life of faith made him such a good man that God translated him without death?

Verses 6—Faith is sometimes based upon outward evidence; sometimes upon personal revelation; sometimes upon intuition, and sometimes upon composite grounds: what moral or spiritual qualities, therefore, are necessary for becoming a man of faith? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Why is faith necessary in order to please God?

Verses 7—What was Noah's faith based upon, and wherein was his faith meritorious?

Verses 8-12—What was the difference, if any, between Abraham's faith and that of the Pilgrim fathers, when they left the old country for the American land of promise?

I take it that Abraham, and the Pilgrim fathers, while in communion with God, felt a drawing to go to the rich country in the distance about which they had heard: that they took this drawing to be the voice of God; and in this faith they started out; what evidence is there that their faith was true, and that such faith is always dependable?

Verses 13-16—Why is it that all nations and peoples, in all time, so far as we have any record, believe in, and "desire a better country, that is an heavenly"?

Verses 17-19—Give from memory the account of Abraham offering up his son Isaac.

What is the particular virtue, in Abraham obeying God in the matter of offering up Isaac?

Would it be a virtue or a vice in these days, if any man should do the same thing as Abraham did?

Verses 20-31—Suppose the persons mentioned in these wonderful verses, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses and Rahab, had been lacking faith in God, in these critical moments of their lives, what would have been the difference in the results?

Does faith in God always make the present happy, and picture in glowing colors the future?

Verses 32-40—Have men distinguished for their faith always been noted for their goodness?

This is a thrilling account of the exploits of the men of faith; give me an account of the achievements of men noted for their lack of faith.

Women's Work and Infant Mortality.

In eight industrial towns, where the proportion of married women of child bearing age at work in the factories was 48 per cent, the infant mortality rate for ten years averaged 182 per 1,000. In eight industrial towns of a different type, where the proportion of married women at work was only 8 per cent, the infant mortality was only 150 per 1,000. The excessive rate in the first group is not due to bad wages nor to bad conditions, but to the absence of the mother.—London Post.

THE HUMAN HAND.

Its Relation to the True Education of the Young.

No animal or bird can endure the extremes of climate like man or is at home in so many different parts of the world. A dog, it is true, will follow man anywhere, but only when food and shelter are provided. Nor can any other creature subsist on such a variety of food as man can digest. He flourishes on roots, herbs, grubs, insects, fruits or fish, on which flesh eating animals would starve, or he is equally pleased with animal and bird flesh on which herbivorous animals would starve. He can pick nuts with the monkey, catch fish with the otter, dig roots with the wild pig, eat ants' eggs with the ant eater and grasshoppers with the snake.

And all this is due to man's hand. Because his hand could grasp a stone or a club man rose on his hind legs and walked and talked. His hand is the most wonderful of all tools. It twists like a monkey wrench, hangs on like a grappling hook, cracks like a nutcracker, picks like tweezers, tears like forceps, grubs like a gopher.

This brings us to the first great lesson of health and common sense. Man owes all to his hand. Train the child's hand, then, answer the questions that the brain, which the hand builds, will ask, and you have true education—education at its best. Give children every kind of hand work that their play instincts call for—and their play instincts are the deepest and most useful in their nature—and then brain development will follow as naturally as the night follows day.—San Francisco Chronicle.

It Gets the Criminals.

According to the Chinese method of criminal prosecution, a man is responsible for the crime he may have committed personally, but if he chooses to escape justice by running away from the place where the deed was committed then the remaining members of his immediate family are held and punished in lieu of the real culprit. This may seem a strange way of attracting the real criminal back to the scene of his crime, but it appeals to the religious side of the man's superstitious nature. According to their religion, the man who forsakes his parents when in peril will find his soul sailing around through hades without chart or compass for all eternity. In view of this, compliance with the law is very prompt. For John Chinaman does not care to take the desperate chance.

He Explains.

"Why is it, professor," asked the young man with the bad eye, "that when Christopher Columbus discovered this country he didn't settle down and stay here?"

"Doubtless you are aware, my young friend," answered the professor, "that the Spanish form of his name was Cristoval Colon?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, a colon does not mean a full stop. We will return now, young gentlemen, to the consideration of the lesson."—Exchange.

Make Friends.

There is nothing so healthy as plenty of human nature about one, young, old and middle aged. When we stay at home too much or associate entirely with a very limited circle we lose the proper sense of perspective. The few individuals whom we like assume giant proportions in our thoughts and the rest of the world recedes.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas in a certain Deed of Trust, dated December 10, 1906, executed at Los Angeles, California, by Thomas H. Oulsnam and Isabella Oulsnam, his wife, parties of the 1st part, the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, a corporation, party of the 2nd part, and Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, party of the 3rd part, and recorded December 11, 1908, in book 3668, page 58, of Trust Deeds, Records of Los Angeles County, California, to which record reference is hereby made, said parties of the 1st part, Thomas H. Oulsnam and Isabella Oulsnam, his wife, did grant and convey the premises therein described to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company as trustee, for the uses and purposes set out in said Trust Deed, among other uses, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note and interest according to the terms of said note, and other sums of money advanced, the same being made due and payable to Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, the party of the 3rd part.

Whereas, there has been a default in the payment of the monthly installment of interest and premium due and payable on said note for the month of January, 1909, and all subsequent monthly installments, and by reason of such default said Fidelity Savings and Loan Association has in accordance with the provisions of its By-Laws and said Trust Deed, declared the full amount of the indebtedness immediately due and payable, there being the total sum of thirty-three hundred fifty and 50-100 dollars ($3350.50) now due and unpaid.

Whereas, it is provided in said Trust Deed that if there is a default in the payment of any of the principal, interest, or money advanced for any purpose, mentioned as secured by said Deed; that upon application of the party of the 3rd part, or its assigns, the party of the 2nd part shall give notice and sell the premises, or as much thereof, as shall be necessary to pay the liabilities unpaid secured by the Trust Deed.

Whereas, said Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, the holder of the note secured in said Trust Deed, by reason of the default in payments, as stated, has applied to, and requested the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, party of the 2nd part, to proceed and sell the granted premises, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the whole of the principal, interest, premium and interest thereon, attorney fees, all costs, charges and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust, and

Whereas, said Title Guarantee and Trust Company has demanded payment, of said Thomas H. Oulsnam and Isabella Oulsnam, his wife the sum of thirty-three hundred fifty and 50-100 dollars ($3350.50), which sum remains due and unpaid.

Now Therefore, notice is hereby given that the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, by virtue of the authority vested in said Corporation as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin on the 2nd day of July, 1909, at the hour of 12 m., of said day, at the Western front entrance of the Court House in the City of Los Angeles, California, all the interest conveyed by said parties of the 1st part, to the party of the 2nd part by said Trust Deed in and to all the following described property, to-wit:

Lots six (6) and seven (7) in block two (2) of the Highland View Tract, being G. W. Morgan's Subdivision of part of the Hunter Highland View Tract, in the City of and County of Los Angeles, State of California; as per map recorded in book 9, pages 25 to 34, Miscellaneous Records of said County, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal, interest, advances, charges, and costs accrued, amounting to the sum of thirty-six hundred and 00-100 dollars ($3600.00), due and unpaid.

In witness whereof the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, has duly authorized this notice, by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by the Secretary who has affixed the Corporate Seal, at Los Angeles, California, this 26th day of May, 1909.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.

Whereas in a certain Deed of Trust, dated March 10, 1906, executed at Los Angeles, California, by Robert N. Martin and Pearl C. Martin, his wife, parties of the 1st part, the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, a corporation, party of the 2nd part, and Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, party of the 3rd part, and recorded March 21, 1906, in book 2594, page 194, of Trust Deeds, Records of Los Angeles County, California, to which record reference is hereby made; said parties of the 1st part, Robert N. Martin and Pearl C. Martin, his wife, did grant and convey the premises therein described to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company as trustee, for the uses and purposes set out in said Trust Deed, among other uses, to secure the payment of one certain promissory note and interest according to the terms of said note, and other sums of money advanced, and interest thereon, the same being made due and payable to Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, a corporation, the party of the 3rd part.

Whereas, there has been a default in the payment of the monthly installment of interest, premium and dues, due and payable on said note for the month of October, 1908, and all subsequent monthly installments, and a default in the payment of the money advanced in accordance with the provision of the By-Laws of said Fidelity Savings and Loan Association and of said Trust Deed, and by reason of such default having continued for a period of more than six months last past, said Fidelity Savings and Loan Association has, in accordance with the provisions of its By-Laws and said Trust Deed, declared the full amount of the indebtedness immediately due and payable, there being the total sum of thirty-one hundred fifty-two and 42-100 dollars ($3152.42) now due and unpaid.

Whereas, it is provided in said Trust Deed that if there is a default in the payment of any of the principal, interest, or money advanced for any purpose, mentioned as secured by said Deed; that upon application of the party of the 3rd part, or its assigns, the party of the 2nd part shall give notice and sell the premises, or as much thereof, as shall be necessary to pay the liabilities unpaid secured by the Trust Deed.

Whereas, said Fidelity Savings and Loan Association, the holder of the note secured in said Trust Deed, by reason of the default in payments, as stated, has applied to and requested the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, party of the 2nd part, to proceed and sell the granted premises, or so much thereof, as shall be necessary to pay the whole of the principal, interest, premium, dues, money advanced and interest thereon, attorney fees, all costs, charges and expenses incurred necessary to the execution of said trust, and Whereas, said Title Guarantee and Trust Company has demanded payment, of said Robert N. Martin and Pearl C. Martin, his wife the sum of thirty-one hundred fifty-two and 42-100 dollars ($3152.42) which sum remains due and unpaid.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, by virtue of the authority vested in said Corporation as Trustee, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in gold coin on the 12th day of June, 1909, at the hour of 12 M., of said day, at the Western front entrance of the Court House in the City of Los Angeles, California, all the interest conveyed by said parties of the 1st part, to the party of the 2nd part by said Trust Deed in and to all the following described property, to-wit: All of Lots Two (2) and Four (4) of the R. N. Martin Tract, a Subdivision of Lot Fifteen (15) in Block Seven (7) Fort Hill Tract, in the City of and County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 9, page 29, of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

Subject to a right of way for foot passengers, described as the Easterly Five (5) feet of Lot Two (2), cut off by a line parallel with the Easterly line of Lot Two (2) and Five (5) feet distant westerly therefrom, which said right of way may be arched, spanned or covered by such structure as the owner of Lots Two (2) and Four (4) may determine, provided space is left clear under such structure for passage Five (5) feet wide and, at least, Eight (8) feet high, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the total amount of the principal, interest, advances, charges, and costs accrued, amounting to the sum of thirty-three hundred and fifty Dollars ($3350), due and unpaid.

In witness whereof the Title Guarantee and Trust Company has duly authorized this notice, by the signature of its Vice-President, attested by the Secretary, who has affixed the Corporate Seal, at Los Angeles, California, this 2nd day of May, 1909.

PERFECT FLIERS.

Eagles, Vultures and Similar Birds Are In This Class.

It is a fact that those ingenious and daring minds that devote themselves to the solution of the problem of aviation have given no small part of their preliminary study to considering the manner of flight of birds.

A strange result of this investigation is the conclusion, now generally indorsed, that, as a whole, the bird world is not to be regarded as perfect in its attainment of flight. For instance, it is contended by the best authorities that all birds obliged continually to flap their wings—and in this category may be mentioned sparrows, finches, thrushes, crows, etc.—are still in an imperfect stage of advancement.

In the next class, as being a degree advanced, are put such birds as pigeons, swallows, etc., which are able to dart ahead for a space after they have gained a good start by the vigorous flapping of their pinions.

In the third class the birds that may be said to be perfect fliers are the eagles, vultures, albatrosses and similar big birds possessing the ability to rise and fall and sway and soar in the air indefinitely without a perceptible movement of their wings. It is, of course, known to every person of an observant turn that these big fowl are able to soar into the air gradually until at last they disappear from the eye of the watcher, it being almost impossible to detect any movement beyond a slight occasional motion of the tail.—New York Tribune.

A QUICK CHANGE.

From the Desire For Comfort to the Craze For Speed.

Mr. Newcar (about to start on his first trip in his recently purchased motor car, to his chauffeur)—Now, William, I want it thoroughly understood. I will not have fast driving. Always keep well under the legal limit—not as close to it as you can. Ten miles an hour is fast enough for me. What I want is comfort, not excitement. Do you understand?

Three days later. "Er—er—William, I must be back to the house by 7 o'clock. This road seems very straight and wide. Don't you think you might go just a little faster without danger?"

"Two days later. "William, this dust is very unpleasant. If you could pass that car ahead—it seems to be going rather slowly."

Next day. "Put on a little more speed, William. There's no use in being a crank. This road is too good to lose the chance."

A week later. "Open her up, William! There are no police within five miles. I'll bet, and if there are who cares? I'm out for fun! Let her zip! Let her zip! This is no steam roller! Let's have some speed!"—Life.

Monkey and Goat.

Monkeys are more renowned for mischief than for kindness, but even monkeys can be benevolent. M. Mouton records the doings of one in Guadeloupe that surely seemed to merit that reputation. This monkey had a friend in a goat that went daily to the pasture.

Every night the monkey would pick out the burs and thorns, sometimes to the number of 2,000 or 3,000, from the goat's fleece, in order that the animal might lie down in peace. On coming in from the pasture the goat regularly went in search of his light handed friend and submitted himself to the operation. Strange to say, the tricky instincts of the monkey reassured themselves after the pricks were removed. He would tease the poor goat unmercifully, plucking his beard, poking him in the eyes and pulling out his hairs. The goat bore it all with patience, perhaps regarding it as only a fair price to be paid for the removal of the thorns.—London Standard.

The Ruling Passion.

His clothes said he was a tramp, but his brow was high and his manner grand. "Madam, may I request the favor of a pair of your husband's castoff trousers? These are somewhat passe." This, with a sweep of a tattered hat, brought results in the shape of a pair of hubby's oldest, which were just about two degrees better than those the tramp was wearing. After a critical survey of his acquisition, instead of the polite words of thanks the good woman was waiting for, the tramp volunteered, with a deep, long drawn sigh of regret, "Madam, I see your husband discards from weakness."—Puck.

Mission of Rain.

Although looked upon as an evil, pain is kind. It tells that the laws of nature have been violated and warns us to correct the cause. If it were not for pain we would go on doing things that would destroy us. Pain is a warning that something is wrong, and instead of trying to hush the pain with some drug we should seek to remove the cause.

In a Different Class.

"I hear, Mike, that your wife has gone into society. Has she become a clubwoman yet?"

"Indeed an' she has not got into that class. She still uses a flatiron, sor."—New York Times.

It Would Make a Difference.

Teacher—Now, boys, here's a little example in mental arithmetic. How old would a person be who was born in 1875? Pupil—Please, teacher, was it a man or a woman?—Boston Transcript.

To recall benefits we have bestowed shows want of tact; to forget those bestowed on us shows want of heart.—Richter.

SACRIFICE SHOE SALE OF GLENDALE SHOE STORE

We have just purchased the stock of the Glendale Shoe store at a big sacrifice for spot cash, and on

Tuesday Morning, June 15
At 9 o'clock

the door will be thrown open, when begins the greatest shoe sale Glendale has ever known.

Prices will be cut to a whisper

We will sell many lines below factory cost because we bought this stock that way, and more than half the stock is brand new goods, bought only a week ago. We will give away our profits for the next thirty days so as to get acquainted with the people of Glendale and prove to them that we can sell shoes just as cheap or cheaper than the city stores, because our expense is practically nothing as compared with theirs. During the sale our

$2.00 Shoes will be only $1.48
2.50 and $3.00 Shoes for 1.98
3.50 and $3.75 Shoes for 2.89
4.00 and $4.50 Shoes for 3.39

Children's Shoes at extraordinarily low prices
See bills for complete list of prices

We have spent eighteen long years in the shoe business, and will be able to fit any feet. Come and give us a trial. We always satisfy our customers or cheerfully refund the money. Remember the date. Sale begins Tuesday, June 15, at 9 a.m. when you can buy two pairs of good shoes for about the price of one.

Respectfully,

DAVE CARNEY, Successor to Glendale Shoe Store

Market Days

You have to be on the alert. There are so many things to be had, nine out of ten some are forgotten. Our order system helps you out.

A party of Tropic people very pleasantly spent the week end at Venice. They left Saturday and Sunday at the beach town, returning Sunday evening. Those composing the party were Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bullis, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Stine, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Davenport, Miss Evalena Ayers, Miss Blanche Davenport and Allen Davenport.

The Seventh grade of the Tropic grammar school entertained the Eighth grade of that school with a farewell party, Tuesday evening. The event was given in the assembly room of the school and proved to be one of the most enjoyable events of the year. Games were played until quite a late hour when refreshments were served and the young people left for their homes.

The Tropic Social and Benefit club have announced their intention to give a vaudeville entertainment in Logan's hall on the evenings of June 22 and 23. The show will include seven acts and will doubtless be worthy of the attention and support of the people of this place. The proceeds of the two nights will be divided and given to Tropic literary fund and to the Tropic of the I. O. F. lodge No. 1970. The admission will be 25 cents.

Miss Marjorie Storer, the 13-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Storer, received the class honors of the eighth graduating class. Marjorie, who is the youngest member of the class, is to be commended for the excellent record made the past year. Dr. Storer and family are of Rochester, N. Y., and have been spending the past year visiting in Tropic.

In spite of the fact that there were several other functions the same evening the G. A. R. hall was quite well filled the night of June 4th, when the ladies of the Thursday Afternoon club of Tropic gave their concert. The two numbers rendered by local talent were very much appreciated. The two young ladies showed wonderful ability each in her line of work and Mr. Robert Mueller won the admiration of all by his wonderful execution on the piano.

Visitors to the Tropic schools, Thursday, following the picnic dinner, visited the various rooms of the building and enjoyed the fine art exhibit of the pupils of the First grade up to and including the Eighth grade. Miss Hall, special drawing teacher, richly deserves the many words of praise that were heard on all sides from parent and visitor alike upon the remarkable advancement of the pupils, as manifested in their work in water, crayon, pencil and brush.

An open meeting of the Forester lodge of Tropic was held in Logan's hall, the regular meeting place of the lodge, on Thursday evening. A song did program consisting of literary and musical selections was given, the feature being a short dramatic sketch given by members of the order. Frank Guernsey of Glendale, the popular vaudeville artist, gave a side-splitting monologue. A large company of members from the Forester's lodge of Los Angeles was present. Open meetings of this lodge are held every month.

Misses Freda and Ruby Borthick of this place will start on the 17th day of this month for an extended trip to the north. The journey as far as San Francisco will be made by boat. They will remain in Frisco for several days, when they will go on to Santa Cruz. After a several day's stay at that place they will go to Modesto, where they will spend some time with their friend, Miss Josephine Bowen, who is well known at this place. From that place they will go to Seattle, where they will attend the fair. Altogether they expect to make a trip of two months' duration.

MISS PEARL SEARS MARRIED. The marriage of Miss Pearl Sears, daughter of George W. Sears of this place, to Robert S. Antibus of San Diego, will come as a complete surprise to the young lady's many friends of the valley. The ceremony was performed at the First Methodist church of San Diego on last Tuesday evening by the pastor of that church.

Hardly a friend of this popular young lady knew of the approaching wedding until Monday evening, when she traveled with the Glendale Stock company to Burbank and with a jolly laugh very cleverly took the part of "Meg" in "The Mountain Wolf." It was on the homeward journey on Monday evening that she disclosed the secret to her friends. Tuesday noon she left over the Santa Fe for the southern city.

Miss Sears has lived in this valley for the past six years and during that time has won the admiration and love of every one. Wherever this girl went could be heard the clear, buoyant laughter of a true-hearted maiden. She will be greatly missed.

Mr. Antibus is also well known in this valley. He came here about two years ago and stayed for several months. It was that time that he became acquainted with the girl who is now his wife. He is foreman of the packing houses of a Southern California fruit company.

Mr. and Mrs. Antibus will remain in Bonita, a little place several miles from San Diego, for about two months, when they will return to this city for a several week's visit. Then they will go north to live.

CLOSING EXERCISES OF TROPICO GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

With happy, beaming faces and words of welcome and hospitality, the pupils of the Tropic grammar school assisted Mrs. M. E. McClure, principal, and her corps of efficient instructors, in greeting the patrons of the school Thursday morning.

The tennis court had been converted into a large assembly room, and a large canvas protected the visitors from the sun's rays during the rendering of an excellent program.

A large platform was erected and decorated in flags and pepper boughs. Miss Elise Vance, last year's graduate, presided at the piano. Each number on the program was received enthusiastically by the audience. Groups of songs by girls of the First grade, Miss Jennie Clay, instructor; recitation, Gladys Goddard; songs, pupils of Miss Freda Borthick's room; recitation, Walter Cole; piano duet, Wanda Seofield and Helene Morgan; concert recitation, "Hats Off," Sixth grade pupils, Miss Crystal Waters, instructor; group of songs, pupils of Miss Clarice Merrill's room; recitation, "The American Flag," Merrill Blain; song, pupils of Miss May Cornwall's room; ribbon drill, sixteen girls, under direction of Miss Sarah McLean.

A. C. Wheat, assistant superintendent of schools, delivered a brief but instructive and interesting address on "Some Tendencies of Modern Education." Following Mr. Wheat's address a large, handsome flag was raised to the top of the flagpole and as Charles Schick snapped the cord that held the rose petals and ere the last one fluttered to the ground the pupils, led by Mrs. McClure, rendered the flag salute with vim and patriotism.

Marjorie Imier then stepped beside the platform and, while the beautiful flag kissed the soft breezes for the first time, recited "Our Flag." Then, as only loyal Americans can, "Star Spangled Banner."

At the close of the exercises the pupils were seated at long tables, which were bountifully laden with a most appetizing picnic lunch.

Mrs. Charles Murray, assisted by a score or more of ladies, dispensed the hospitality that rendered the lunch all the more enjoyable. Mrs. Murray had every detail arranged with a precision and nicety that pleased all. Mrs. Sears also aided most materially in the success of the picnic dinner.

TROPICO METHODIST ITEMS.

By Rev. J. E. Henry.

Last Sunday morning the pastor of this church exchanged pulpits with Dr. E. B. Morrison of West Glendale mission. Dr. Morrison preached a fine sermon that was greatly appreciated by the congregation.

At the Epworth League service last Sunday evening the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term of office: President, W. W. McWhorter; first vice, S. G. Biddle; second vice, Mrs. C. Haines; third vice, Thomas Morrison; fourth vice, Mrs. John Kirkham; secretary, Miss Lola Pratt; treasurer, A. L. Chandler; organist, Miss Myrtle Harrison; assistant organist, Miss Nina Claver. A committee was appointed at this meeting to prepare topic cards for the last half of the year.

The song service announced for next Sunday evening will be postponed on account of the annual baccalaureate sermon which will be preached before the graduates of the Tropic grammar school to be held at the Presbyterian church. Our congregation will unite with the Presbyterian congregation on that evening.

On Sunday morning, June 20th, the pastor of this church will exchange pulpits with Brother Goodsell, who is pastor of the Methodist church at Edendale.

TROPICO LIBRARY REPORT.

The following brief report of the work of the Tropic library from the first of July until the 17th day of May was recently submitted by the librarian of the Tropic Free library, Miss Harriet Myers:

During the time stated 4462 books and 1100 magazines were loaned. One hundred and seventy-four new books were added, 136 being gifts to the library by the residents of this place and the remainder being purchased by fine money. Tag Day money and library tea fund. Fines during the time amounted to $14.02. Expenses, $13.09.

During the time ten dollars was received from the Tropic Thursday Afternoon club to help pay for the new book case which was installed recently. Fourteen dollars still remain in the book fund, which was received from Tag Day.

TROPICO PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

By Rev. Henderson C. Shoemaker.

The subject for next Sunday's morning sermon will be "Sins of the Tongue," and in the evening the pastor will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the Tropic grammar school. Rev. Henry of the Methodist church will assist upon this occasion.

EAGLE ROCK SCHOOL.

The Eagle Rock school came to a close Tuesday afternoon, with graduation exercises for the eighth grade, a large number of visitors were present. The exercises were carried out under the watchful eye of Miss Ruth Rogers. Wallace Tupper, in the part of Scruge Weir, was among those who carried off the honors of the occasion. Those who graduated were Miss Brooks Bailey, Miss Ruth Cottoral, Miss Ruth Rogers, Cecil Adams, Chas Burns and Wallace Tupper.

A picnic was held at Sycamore Canyon Tuesday.

Too much can not be said in praise of Mr. Ovid Laws, Jr., principal, and Miss Frances Dodge, teacher, of the primary grades, for the work they have accomplished this year.

Result of Poor Writing.

The Duke of Wellington, through misreading a badly written letter, made a ludicrous blunder. This letter was written by C. J. London, a botanical author, who wrote to the duke requesting the privilege of seeing his beautiful beeches. The duke misread the signature for that of C. J. Bloomfield, bishop of London, and wrote in reply: "My lord, I shall always be glad to see you at Stratfordfields, and my servant shall show you as many pairs of my breeches as you may choose to inspect. But what you want to see them for is quite beyond me."—Exchange.

An Easy One.

"You imagine you know a lot about Biblical things," said the scoffer. "Suppose you tell me who Cain's wife was."

"That's easy," rejoined the old deacon. "She was Adam's daughter-in-law."—Detroit Free Press.

System.

"I'm afraid I can't write that article on 'System,'" said the scoffer. "Why not?"

"I can't find my notes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.
